PNWA announces Dena Horton as new Government Relations Director

PNWA is pleased to announce that Dena Horton has been selected as the association's new Government Relations Director. Dena will join the team on Monday, September 23.

Dena brings significant federal and regional experience and a deep knowledge of the issues and projects in PNWA's portfolio. For the past five years, Dena has served as Senator Maria Cantwell's Southwest Washington Outreach Director. Dena was also a project manager for seven years for Normandeau Associates (a PNWA member), and served as a district representative for former Congressman Brian Baird for four years.

Dena earned a bachelor's degree in Political Science from Gonzaga University, and completed master's degree coursework in Public Affairs at Washington State University - Vancouver. She is also a graduate of Leadership Clark County, and has a long record of volunteer service in her community.

PNWA is very excited to welcome Dena to the association. Dena's background and expertise will help PNWA build upon its history as a respected federal affairs voice for Northwest stakeholders. We look forward to introducing Dena to PNWA's members and colleagues at our 85th Annual Convention in Vancouver this October.
