Not all Pacific Northwest residents appreciate the huge role agriculture plays in our region's economy, but everybody sure understands the impact of the weather - especially when it gets hot!

The latest paid Twitter ad of our River Values digital marketing campaign has attracted over 31,000 views, 136 likes, 20 retweets, and 29 visits to the River Values website in less than a week - all for a cost of only $50.

The campaign in support of the Columbia Snake River System continues to target environmentally and politically conscious moderates in Washington, DC and our region's state capitals. Your contribution will help it continue through 2021 and beyond, ensuring clean energy, efficient and cost-effective transportation, critical water for high-value crops, job retention and creation, and a brighter future for us all. Please contact PNWA Communications Director Scott Clemans for more information and to get involved.
